Code at a Glance

Principle	Required behavior
Act lawfully and honestly	Follow applicable law, contracts, company policy, and approved authority limits. Never falsify, conceal, or deliberately mislead.
Treat people with respect	Maintain a workplace free from discrimination, harassment, bullying, threats, and retaliation.
Avoid or disclose conflicts	Put BluePeak's legitimate interests ahead of undisclosed personal interests when acting for the company.
Protect information and systems	Use company, customer, employee, and partner information only for authorized purposes and through approved systems.
Keep accurate records	Record transactions, time, expenses, approvals, customer commitments, and business decisions truthfully and completely.
Speak up	Ask before acting when unsure and report suspected misconduct promptly.

Decision test: Before acting, ask whether the action is lawful, consistent with BluePeak values and policy, within your authority, fair to affected people, supportable with accurate records, and something you would be comfortable explaining to a customer, colleague, regulator, or the Board.

1. Purpose, Scope, and Responsibility

The Code applies to directors, officers, employees, interns, temporary workers, and contractors when they act for BluePeak or use BluePeak resources. Business partners are expected to meet equivalent standards under their agreements and the Supplier Code.

Every covered person must read the Code, complete required training, ask questions, disclose conflicts, cooperate with investigations, and report suspected violations. Leaders have an additional duty to model the standards, create an environment where concerns can be raised, respond without retaliation, and involve the proper function rather than investigating sensitive matters independently.

No business objective, revenue target, deadline, customer request, or manager instruction justifies violating the Code. An employee who is directed to do something that may be unlawful or improper should pause and seek guidance.

2. Respectful and Inclusive Workplace

BluePeak makes employment decisions without unlawful discrimination and prohibits harassment, bullying, retaliation, threats, and violence. The standard applies in offices, remote interactions, customer sites, business travel, social events, messaging platforms, conferences, and any other context connected to work.

2.1 Expected Conduct

Employees should communicate directly and professionally, listen to different viewpoints, give credit, avoid demeaning humor, respect boundaries, and address disagreement without personal attack. Leaders should distribute opportunities based on legitimate business factors and document material employment decisions.

2.2 Sexual Harassment and Other Harassment

Unwelcome sexual conduct, sexual comments, repeated requests for dates after refusal, sexual images, touching, quid pro quo decisions, or conduct based on a protected characteristic is prohibited. Conduct can violate the Code even when it does not meet a legal threshold.

2.3 Retaliation

Retaliation includes dismissal, demotion, reduced opportunities, intimidation, exclusion, threats, negative scheduling, improper scrutiny, or another adverse response because a person made a good-faith report, participated in an investigation, requested an accommodation or leave, or exercised a protected right. Retaliation concerns should be reported immediately.

3. Conflicts of Interest

A conflict exists when personal interests could interfere with objective judgment for BluePeak. An appearance of conflict can damage trust even when no improper decision occurs. Disclosure allows the company to assess and manage the situation.

3.1 Common Conflicts Requiring Disclosure

- 1 a financial interest in a customer, supplier, competitor, or transaction partner;
- 1 outside employment, consulting, board service, or a business that overlaps with BluePeak's activities;
- 1 hiring, supervising, evaluating, paying, or selecting a relative, household member, romantic partner, or close personal associate;
- 1 accepting a personal benefit because of a BluePeak role;
- 1 directing company business to an entity connected to the employee;
- 1 using BluePeak information, opportunities, property, time, or relationships for personal gain; or
- 1 participating in a decision where the employee's objectivity could reasonably be questioned.

Disclose a potential conflict through the Compliance Disclosure workflow before making or influencing the decision. Legal may approve the activity, impose safeguards, change decision authority, or require the activity to stop.

3.2 Outside Employment and Public Activities

Outside work must not compete with BluePeak, interfere with performance, use confidential information, misuse company resources, or imply company sponsorship. Employees in executive, sales, procurement, finance, product, engineering, security, legal, or people roles may be subject to heightened review because of their access or decision authority.

4. Gifts, Meals, Travel, and Entertainment

Business courtesies must never be used to obtain an improper advantage or reward a decision. Cash, gift cards, cryptocurrency, loans, kickbacks, and personal rebates are prohibited regardless of value.

4.1 Standard Thresholds

Situation	Standard
Modest promotional item or customary meal	May be accepted when lawful, infrequent, not tied to a decision, and normally valued at $100 or less.
Aggregate value above $100 from one source in a calendar year	Requires written approval from Legal and the employee's vice president.
Government or public-sector official	Obtain Legal approval before offering or accepting anything of value, regardless of amount.
Vendor selection, contract negotiation, audit, claim, or dispute	Do not accept gifts or entertainment from an interested party during the active decision period.
Travel or lodging paid by a third party	Requires advance written approval from Legal and the applicable executive.

When refusing a courtesy would be culturally difficult or impractical, accept it on behalf of BluePeak, disclose it promptly, and follow Legal's direction regarding return, donation, sharing, or display.

5. Anti-Bribery and Corruption

BluePeak prohibits bribery, facilitation payments, kickbacks, secret commissions, and improper payments in every country. An improper payment can be money, employment, a contract, travel, a gift, a charitable contribution, information, a favor, or anything else of value offered to influence an action.

Employees and third parties acting for BluePeak must use accurate contracts, invoices, expense descriptions, and approval records. Payments may not be routed through a third party, personal account, false category, or inflated invoice to conceal their purpose. Legal must review interactions involving public officials, state-owned entities, high-risk intermediaries, customs, permits, and government procurement.

6. Fair Dealing, Competition, and Customer Commitments

BluePeak competes through product value, service, expertise, and fair commercial practices. Employees must not obtain a competitor's confidential information improperly, make false statements about competitors, coordinate prices or markets, manipulate a procurement process, or agree with competitors not to hire employees or serve customers.

Only authorized employees may commit BluePeak to pricing, discounts, warranties, service levels, security terms, data processing, product roadmaps, legal terms, or customer-specific development. Side letters, undocumented promises, and verbal commitments outside authority are prohibited.

Marketing, sales, product, and customer communications must be accurate and supportable. Forward-looking statements should identify assumptions and must not represent planned functionality as currently available.

7. Confidential Information, Privacy, and Security

Employees must classify and handle information under the Information Security Policy. Access is based on role and legitimate business need, not curiosity or convenience. Customer data, employee records, security details, credentials, source code, pricing, financial results, legal advice, and product strategy require heightened protection.

Personal data may be collected, used, shared, and retained only for an approved purpose and in accordance with privacy requirements. Do not download broad datasets, copy production information into test tools, or use personal accounts for company work. Report suspected phishing, credential exposure, lost devices, misdirected messages, and unauthorized access immediately and no later than 24 hours after discovery.

7.1 Approved Artificial Intelligence Use

Use only BluePeak-approved AI tools. Do not enter Restricted or Confidential information into an unapproved service. Review output for accuracy, discriminatory impact, confidentiality, copyright, security, and contractual restrictions. Human owners remain accountable for decisions and deliverables assisted by AI.

8. Financial Integrity and Accurate Records

Records must reflect the true nature, amount, date, business purpose, parties, and approval of a transaction. Employees must never create false sales activity, backdate approvals, split purchases to avoid approval limits, misstate time, submit personal expenses, manipulate forecasts, conceal liabilities, or create off-book arrangements.

Revenue, bookings, renewals, commissions, rebates, credits, discounts, and customer acceptance must be recorded under approved accounting and contracting rules. Questions about accounting treatment should be escalated to Finance before a commitment is made.

Employees must preserve records subject to a legal hold, audit, investigation, customer request, security incident, or regulatory inquiry. Deleting or altering relevant information after notice is prohibited.

9. Company Assets and Opportunities

Use company funds, devices, facilities, accounts, software, intellectual property, and working time responsibly. Limited personal use of technology is allowed only when lawful, secure, occasional, and not disruptive. Theft, unauthorized resale, personal commercial use, cryptomining, or removal of controls is prohibited.

An employee must not take for personal benefit a business opportunity discovered through BluePeak information, property, or position unless the General Counsel provides written clearance.

10. Intellectual Property and Open Source

BluePeak respects patents, copyrights, trademarks, licenses, confidentiality, and contractual restrictions. Employees must use approved software and content, honor open-source obligations, and obtain review before incorporating third-party code, models, data, images, or other material into a product or customer deliverable.

Product and engineering teams must follow the approved open-source intake and software-composition process. Marketing and sales teams must confirm rights to logos, testimonials, photographs, research, and customer names.

11. Government, Political, and Charitable Activity

Only authorized employees may lobby, respond to government inquiries, bid on public-sector work, or make political contributions on behalf of BluePeak. Personal political activity must occur on personal time, with personal resources, and without pressure on colleagues. BluePeak will not reimburse personal political contributions.

Charitable donations and sponsorships must be legitimate, documented, and free from conflicts or improper influence. Donations may not be used as a substitute for a payment to a customer, official, or decision-maker.

12. Human Rights and Responsible Business

BluePeak does not tolerate forced labor, child labor, human trafficking, unlawful discrimination, or unsafe working conditions in its operations or supply chain. Procurement and business owners must evaluate suppliers based on appropriate risk and escalate credible concerns.

Employees should consider accessibility, privacy, security, fairness, and potential misuse when designing products or deploying automation. A feature that is technically possible may still require legal, ethical, or security review.

13. Speaking for BluePeak and Social Media

Media, analyst, investor, and public-policy inquiries must be referred to authorized teams. Employees may discuss wages, working conditions, or other legally protected matters and may participate in personal social media, but may not disclose confidential information, imply unauthorized company endorsement, harass others, or speak as an official representative without authority.

14. Reporting Concerns

Reports may be made to a manager, People Operations, Legal, Security, Internal Audit, or the BluePeak Integrity Line at integrity@bluepeaktech.com. Accounting, fraud, bribery, executive, or legal concerns may be reported directly to the General Counsel or Board Audit and Compliance Committee through the Integrity Line.

Provide the facts available: who was involved, what occurred, when and where it occurred, documents or systems involved, and whether immediate safety, data, financial, or retaliation risk exists. Do not conduct covert searches, access information outside your role, or confront a person in a way that could increase risk.

14.1 Confidentiality and Anonymous Reporting

BluePeak shares report information only with people who need it to assess, investigate, remediate, or meet legal duties. Complete confidentiality cannot be guaranteed. Anonymous reports are accepted where permitted, but providing a way to ask follow-up questions may improve the investigation.

15. Investigations and Cooperation

Employees must provide truthful information, preserve records, comply with lawful instructions, and maintain requested confidentiality. Interfering with witnesses, deleting evidence, retaliating, or making a knowingly false statement is prohibited. BluePeak may use internal or external investigators and may notify authorities or affected parties when appropriate.

16. Consequences and Remediation

Violations may result in coaching, repayment, removal of authority, access restriction, contract action, discipline up to termination, referral to a licensing body, civil action, or criminal referral. BluePeak also examines control weaknesses, customer impact, data exposure, and management failures so that the underlying process is corrected.

17. Annual Certification

Employees complete an annual certification confirming that they reviewed the Code, disclosed known conflicts, completed required training, and reported known concerns or exceptions. Certification is not a substitute for prompt reporting during the year.

18. Practical Scenarios

18.1 Vendor Offers Sports Tickets During Selection

Do not accept. The active selection creates a conflict regardless of face value. Disclose the offer to Procurement and Legal.

18.2 A Customer Asks for a Roadmap Commitment

Explain that you can share only approved roadmap information and involve Product and Legal before creating a contractual commitment.

18.3 A Colleague Sends Customer Data to a Personal Email

Do not forward or delete the evidence. Report the incident immediately to Security and provide the message details.

18.4 Your Sibling Applies to Your Team

Disclose the relationship before participating. People Operations will assign independent decision-makers and determine whether a reporting conflict would exist.

18.5 A Manager Suggests Recording Work on the Next Day

Record the time on the day it was worked and report the request to Payroll or People Operations. Accuracy is required even if the work was not approved.

90. Administration, Exceptions, and Questions

BluePeak administers the Company Code of Conduct consistently with the employee's work location, employment classification, written employment terms, and applicable law. A statutory or contractual entitlement that is more generous than this document will apply to the extent required. A manager may not waive a legal requirement, create a new benefit, or promise an exception without written approval from the document owner.

Employees should raise questions before relying on an informal interpretation. Contact legal@bluepeaktech.com through Outlook or the People Help channel in Microsoft Teams. Payroll, Legal, Information Security, or a site leader will be consulted when the question involves tax, wage-and-hour, privacy, immigration, safety, or local-law considerations.

Approved exceptions must identify the employee, the policy provision, the business reason, the approving authority, the start and end date, and any conditions. Exceptions are stored with the employee or transaction record and do not establish a precedent for other employees.

91. Related Documents and Systems
