Key rule: This handbook summarizes company practices. Topic-specific controlled policies govern when they provide more detailed or more recent requirements. The document ID, version, and effective date identify the controlling source.

1. Welcome to BluePeak

BluePeak Technologies develops cloud-based workflow automation, integration, and operational analytics products for mid-sized and enterprise organizations. BluePeak Flow manages repeatable work and approvals, BluePeak Connect links business systems and APIs, and BluePeak Insight provides dashboards, alerts, and operational reporting. The company was founded in Denver in 2018 and operates from Denver, Austin, Dublin, and approved remote locations.

Our mission is to make complex business operations easier to run, measure, and improve. Employees are expected to use the company values as practical decision standards:

- 1 Customer usefulness: solve genuine customer problems and prioritize outcomes that make the platform easier and more valuable to use.
- 1 Ownership: take responsibility for commitments, decisions, follow-through, and the quality of work.
- 1 Clarity: communicate directly, document important decisions, and make processes understandable.
- 1 Security and trust: protect customer, employee, and company information as part of everyday work.
- 1 Continuous improvement: learn from evidence and feedback, simplify unnecessary complexity, and improve how work is performed.

1.1 How to Use This Handbook

The handbook is organized around the employee lifecycle. It explains the company-wide baseline and directs employees to the detailed document that controls a specific benefit, process, or standard. Employees should check the effective date of a source before relying on it. The Employee Portal displays the current approved version and a summary of recent changes.

The handbook applies to regular BluePeak employees unless a section states otherwise. Temporary workers, agency staff, interns, consultants, and contractors follow the provisions that are relevant to their assignment, including conduct, security, confidentiality, safety, and acceptable use. Their contracts or program terms determine compensation and benefit eligibility.

2. Employment Relationship and Handbook Administration

2.1 At-Will Employment in the United States

For U.S. employees, employment with BluePeak is at will unless a written agreement signed by an authorized BluePeak officer states otherwise. Either the employee or BluePeak may end the employment relationship at any time, with or without advance notice and with or without cause, subject to applicable law. No manager may create a guaranteed term of employment or modify at-will status through an oral statement, email, performance rating, or informal promise.

Employees outside the United States are employed under their local written terms and applicable law. Nothing in this handbook removes a statutory right, collective right, or contractual protection that applies to an employee.

2.2 Policy Authority and Changes

BluePeak may revise, suspend, or withdraw a policy when business, legal, security, benefit-plan, or operational requirements change. Changes are approved by the owner and the stated approving authority. Material changes are announced in the Employee Portal and reflected in a new version. Employees are responsible for reviewing updates that apply to their role.

When two sources appear inconsistent, employees should not choose the more favorable or more convenient rule without review. The more recent approved version of the same document generally controls. A location-specific rule may control over a general rule for employees assigned to that location. When the conflict cannot be resolved through version, scope, or location metadata, contact People Operations.

2.3 Employee Records

Employees must keep their legal name, home address, personal contact information, emergency contact, work location, tax withholding, and banking information current in the secure HR system. Changes to bank details require multi-factor authentication and may be subject to a verification hold. Medical records, accommodation records, background information, and investigation files are maintained separately with restricted access.

3. Equal Employment Opportunity, Respect, and Accommodation

3.1 Equal Employment Opportunity

BluePeak provides equal employment opportunity in recruiting, hiring, compensation, assignment, development, promotion, discipline, and separation. Decisions are based on legitimate job-related factors and are made without unlawful discrimination. Protected characteristics include those recognized by the law applicable to the employee's work location.

Managers must involve People Operations before making an employment decision that could be affected by a protected leave, accommodation request, complaint, investigation, or protected activity. Retaliation against a person who raises a good-faith concern, requests an accommodation, participates in an investigation, or exercises a legal right is prohibited.

3.2 Harassment and Bullying

Harassment includes unwelcome verbal, visual, written, electronic, or physical conduct that is based on a protected characteristic or that creates an unlawful hostile working environment. Sexual harassment may include unwanted advances, requests for sexual favors, sexual comments, repeated invitations after a refusal, sharing sexual material, or employment decisions tied to sexual conduct.

BluePeak also prohibits bullying, intimidation, threats, humiliation, deliberate exclusion intended to harm, and repeated abusive conduct, even when the conduct is not based on a legally protected characteristic. Ordinary performance feedback, respectful disagreement, and appropriate management direction are not bullying.

Employees may report concerns to any manager, People Operations, Employee Relations, Legal, or the BluePeak Integrity Line. A report does not need to use legal terminology or follow the reporting line of the person involved.

3.3 Disability, Religious, Pregnancy, and Other Accommodations

Employees may request a reasonable workplace accommodation by contacting employeerelations@bluepeaktech.com. The request may be oral or written and does not need to identify a specific legal provision. People Operations will engage in an interactive process, request only information reasonably needed to evaluate the request, and consider effective alternatives. Managers must not request a diagnosis or keep medical information in local files.

Temporary adjustments may be provided while a request is being assessed. Approved accommodations are reviewed when the employee's role, work location, restrictions, or business circumstances change.

4. Employment Classifications

4.1 Regular, Temporary, and Intern Status

Classification	General meaning	Benefit treatment
Regular full-time	Normally scheduled 30 or more hours per week.	Eligible for the full benefit program, subject to plan terms.
Regular part-time	Normally scheduled 20 to 29 hours per week.	Eligible for designated benefits and prorated leave, subject to plan terms.
Limited part-time	Normally scheduled fewer than 20 hours per week.	Statutory benefits only unless written terms state otherwise.
Temporary or fixed-term	Employed for a defined project, period, or coverage need.	Governed by written terms and local law.
Intern or co-op	Time-limited learning assignment.	Eligible only for benefits identified in the program offer.
Contractor or agency worker	Employed or engaged by another entity or as an independent provider.	Not eligible for BluePeak employee benefits unless required by written agreement or law.

4.2 Exempt and Non-Exempt Status

U.S. positions are classified as exempt or non-exempt under wage-and-hour requirements. Non-exempt employees are paid for all hours worked and are eligible for overtime or other premiums as described in the Overtime & Compensation Policy. Exempt employees are paid on a salary basis and are not eligible for overtime unless a written plan states otherwise.

Employees must not change their own classification, work off the clock, or allow another person to record time for them. Questions about classification should be raised with People Operations or Payroll.

4.3 Work Arrangement and Assigned Location

Each position is designated Onsite, Hybrid, or Remote-First. An assigned work location determines payroll registration, tax withholding, benefits, employment-law coverage, travel expectations, and emergency planning. Employees may not permanently relocate, establish a recurring work location, or work from another country without written approval under the applicable remote-work policy.

5. Onboarding, Performance, and Development

5.1 Onboarding Responsibilities

New employees complete identity and work-authorization verification, payroll and tax elections, benefits enrollment, security training, code-of-conduct certification, and role-specific training. Managers provide a written 30/60/90-day plan, system access, decision rights, initial objectives, and a schedule of key stakeholders.

A 90-day progress review is normally used to confirm role clarity, onboarding progress, support needs, and early performance. It is not a guaranteed probationary period and does not change at-will status for U.S. employees.

5.2 Performance Management

BluePeak uses ongoing feedback, quarterly priorities, and an annual performance review. Performance is assessed against results, role expectations, company values, collaboration, security responsibilities, and leadership expectations where applicable. A rating is not a promise of continued employment, salary adjustment, promotion, equity award, or bonus.

Employees are expected to raise obstacles early, seek clarification when priorities conflict, and document material changes to objectives. Managers are expected to give timely, specific, and respectful feedback rather than waiting for the annual review.

5.3 Learning and Career Development

Employees and managers share responsibility for development. Available resources may include internal courses, mentoring, role academies, certification support, conference participation, tuition reimbursement, and stretch assignments. Reimbursement requires advance approval under the applicable learning program; travel associated with development also follows the Travel Policy.

6. Work Schedules, Attendance, and Timekeeping

6.1 Standard Workweek and Schedules

The U.S. payroll workweek begins Monday at 12:00 a.m. and ends Sunday at 11:59 p.m. Department schedules are established based on customer, operational, security, and collaboration needs. The general collaboration window is 10:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. local time; the Austin site uses 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. local time for designated teams and site operations.

A flexible schedule does not remove attendance, coverage, meeting, timekeeping, or customer commitments. Employees must obtain approval before materially changing their regular schedule.

6.2 Timekeeping

Non-exempt employees record the actual start time, end time, meal period, paid leave, and other required codes each workday. All work must be recorded, including work performed before a shift, after a shift, at home, while traveling, or while responding to messages. BluePeak will pay for all time worked, even when the work was not approved, but an employee may be coached or disciplined for violating scheduling or approval requirements.

Managers review time records for completeness and may correct an obvious code or administrative error with notice to the employee. Managers may not reduce recorded time because work was unauthorized or because a budget was exceeded.

6.3 Meal and Rest Periods

BluePeak's U.S. standard provides a 30-minute unpaid, duty-free meal period when a non-exempt employee works more than five hours. Paid rest periods are provided according to the law and site schedule that applies. An employee must be relieved of work during an unpaid meal period; answering messages or remaining responsible for coverage may make the period compensable.

6.4 Attendance and Absence Notice

Employees are expected to be ready to work at the scheduled time and to notify their manager as soon as reasonably possible when they will be absent or late. A medical absence should be recorded under Sick Leave rather than PTO when sick leave applies. Repeated lateness, unreported absences, failure to follow call-in procedures, or inaccurate time records may result in corrective action.

Three consecutive scheduled workdays without notice may be treated as job abandonment after People Operations attempts reasonable contact and considers known emergency or protected-leave circumstances.

7. Payroll, Compensation, and Business Expenses

7.1 Pay Administration

BluePeak pays on the 15th and the last business day of each month. Employees should review each pay statement for base pay, hours, premiums, deductions, taxes, reimbursements, and year-to-date totals. A suspected underpayment or unauthorized deduction should be reported to payroll@bluepeaktech.com promptly. Good-faith reports of payroll errors will not result in retaliation.

Salary ranges, hourly rates, incentive targets, sales commissions, equity, allowances, and one-time payments are governed by written compensation records. Managers may not promise an adjustment or payment outside the approved compensation process.

7.2 Overtime and Additional Work

Non-exempt employees must obtain advance approval before overtime, weekend work, holiday work, or work outside the scheduled shift. All time must still be recorded. Exempt employees may occasionally work additional hours as necessary to fulfill role responsibilities and do not receive overtime unless a written program applies.

7.3 Expense and Travel Controls

Employees may be reimbursed for reasonable, necessary, documented business expenses that comply with the Travel Policy and Expense Reimbursement Policy. Ordinary commuting costs are not reimbursable. A corporate card is company property and may be used only for authorized business transactions. Expense approval confirms compliance; it does not convert a personal expense into a business expense.

8. Time Away From Work

BluePeak provides paid and unpaid time away for rest, illness, family needs, civic responsibilities, military service, bereavement, and other legally protected reasons. The detailed policy controls eligibility, notice, documentation, pay, benefits, job protection, and coordination between leave types.

Leave type	Company baseline	Detailed document
Paid Time Off	15 to 23 days annually by tenure for full-time employees; prorated for eligible part-time employees.	Paid Time Off (PTO) Policy
Sick Leave	10 paid days annually for full-time employees; available from day one.	Sick Leave Policy
Parental Leave	16 paid weeks for an eligible birth parent; 8 paid weeks for an eligible non-birth or adoptive parent; 4 paid weeks for foster placement.	Parental Leave Policy
Bereavement	5 paid days for immediate family, 2 paid days for extended family or close relationship, and up to 3 paid compassionate-leave days.	Bereavement Leave Policy
Unpaid personal leave	Up to 12 weeks may be approved based on circumstances and business feasibility.	Leave Request Form and People Operations guidance
Jury, witness, military, voting, and statutory leave	Provided as required by applicable law and BluePeak policy.	People Operations guidance

Employees are not expected to work while using approved leave unless a formal intermittent or phased arrangement states otherwise. Managers must not discourage protected leave or ask employees to perform work during a leave period.

9. Benefits and Wellbeing

9.1 Eligibility and Enrollment

Regular U.S. employees scheduled at least 20 hours per week may enroll in designated health and welfare benefits. New-hire elections are due within 30 calendar days of the start date. Employees who miss the window generally must wait for annual open enrollment unless a qualifying life event permits a change. Dublin employees participate in locally sponsored plans described in their benefits materials.

9.2 Benefit Overview

BluePeak's program includes medical, dental, vision, health savings and flexible spending accounts where eligible, life insurance, accidental death and dismemberment insurance, short-term and long-term disability, retirement, employee assistance, wellness resources, and voluntary benefits. Plan documents and insurance certificates govern coverage, exclusions, claims, and appeals.

9.3 Dress and Personal Presentation

The standard office dress expectation is smart casual: clean, workplace-appropriate clothing that supports a professional and inclusive environment. Jeans, sneakers, and casual tops are acceptable when neat and suitable for the work being performed. Customer meetings, conferences, executive presentations, laboratory or facilities work, and special events may require business attire, uniforms, protective equipment, or other role-specific clothing.

Clothing or accessories may not display harassment, hate symbols, explicit sexual content, threats, or material that materially disrupts the workplace. BluePeak will consider religious, disability, gender-expression, cultural, and other accommodation requests. Managers should focus on safety and legitimate business needs, not personal taste.

10. Hybrid, Remote, and Flexible Work

Work arrangement is based on role requirements, team effectiveness, customer needs, security, employment registration, and business continuity. Hybrid employees normally work onsite at least three days each week. Remote-First employees work primarily from an approved home location and may be required to attend planned onsite events.

Employees working away from a BluePeak site must maintain a safe and private workspace, reliable connectivity, availability during required hours, and compliance with information-security requirements. Working from another state or country may create tax, payroll, immigration, benefits, data, and insurance obligations; advance approval is required.

Remote work is not a substitute for sick leave or dependent care when the employee cannot work safely and productively. Short, occasional interruptions may be managed with the supervisor, but the employee remains responsible for role requirements and accurate time records.

11. Workplace Conduct

11.1 Professional Behavior

Employees must communicate respectfully, honor commitments, protect confidential information, cooperate with investigations and audits, and avoid behavior that creates an unsafe or intimidating environment. Disagreement is expected in a healthy business; personal attacks, threats, retaliation, deliberate misinformation, and discriminatory conduct are not.

11.2 Conflicts of Interest and Outside Activities

Employees must disclose actual or potential conflicts involving financial interests, family or personal relationships, outside employment, board service, vendor relationships, customer relationships, or use of BluePeak opportunities and assets. Outside work may not compete with BluePeak, misuse confidential information, interfere with performance, or create an appearance that BluePeak endorses the activity.

11.3 Gifts, Entertainment, and Business Courtesies

Employees may accept modest, infrequent business courtesies when they are lawful, do not influence a decision, and do not create an appearance of obligation. Cash and cash equivalents are prohibited. Gifts or entertainment valued above $100 from one source in a calendar year require written approval from Legal and the employee's vice president. Stricter customer, public-sector, procurement, or local rules always apply.

11.4 Alcohol, Drugs, and Impairment

Employees may not work while impaired by alcohol, illegal drugs, misused medication, or another substance that makes work unsafe or unreliable. Alcohol may be served at approved company events only under responsible-hosting requirements. Employees are never required to drink. Safety-sensitive roles may be subject to additional testing or fitness-for-duty rules where permitted by law.

11.5 Relationships at Work

Employees must disclose a romantic, family, household, or close personal relationship when one person can influence the other's pay, performance, promotion, work assignment, investigation, or employment status. BluePeak may change reporting lines or decision authority to manage the conflict. The disclosure is handled as privately as reasonably possible.

12. Safety, Security, and Emergency Readiness

Employees must follow posted site procedures, report hazards and injuries promptly, use required protective equipment, and cooperate with evacuation, shelter, medical, severe-weather, and business-continuity instructions. In an immediate emergency, call the local emergency number first, then notify Workplace and Security when safe.

Weapons, threats, stalking, physical violence, and intentional damage are prohibited on BluePeak property, at company events, and during company business, subject to applicable law. Employees should not place themselves at risk to protect property. Concerns should be reported immediately to Security or emergency services.

13. Technology, Information, and Privacy

13.1 Company Systems

Company accounts, devices, networks, applications, and information are provided for legitimate business use. Limited personal use is permitted when it is lawful, infrequent, does not create material cost or risk, and does not interfere with work. Employees must not bypass security controls, share credentials, install unapproved software, or move company information to personal accounts.

13.2 Monitoring and Privacy Expectations

To the extent permitted by law, BluePeak may access, monitor, log, retain, review, and disclose activity on company systems for security, legal, compliance, support, business-continuity, and operational purposes. Employees should not expect personal privacy when using company systems. BluePeak will limit access to legitimate purposes and authorized personnel.

13.3 Artificial Intelligence Tools

Employees may use only approved AI services for company work. Confidential or Restricted information, personal data, customer content, source code, security details, or contract material must not be entered into a public or unapproved AI tool. AI-generated output must be reviewed for accuracy, confidentiality, intellectual-property risk, bias, and compliance before use.

14. Confidentiality, Intellectual Property, and Records

Employees may access information only when needed for their role. Confidential information includes product plans, source code, customer information, pricing, security controls, employee records, financial results, contracts, business plans, and nonpublic strategy. Confidentiality obligations continue after employment ends.

Work product created within the scope of employment or using BluePeak resources is owned by BluePeak to the extent permitted by law and written agreements. Employees must disclose inventions and cooperate with documentation reasonably needed to protect intellectual property.

Records must be accurate, complete, timely, and retained according to the applicable schedule. Employees must preserve information subject to a legal hold, investigation, audit, or security incident, even when normal retention rules would permit deletion.

15. Social Media, Public Statements, and Political Activity

Only authorized spokespersons may speak for BluePeak, issue press statements, disclose nonpublic business information, or respond to media inquiries. Employees speaking personally should make clear that their views are their own and must not use confidential information, trademarks, customer information, or another person's personal data without authorization.

Political activity must be personal, voluntary, and conducted without using BluePeak resources or implying company endorsement. Employees may participate in lawful civic activity and protected discussion. Managers may not pressure employees to support a political candidate, cause, or contribution.

16. Raising Concerns and Non-Retaliation

Employees are expected to raise concerns about conduct, pay, discrimination, harassment, retaliation, safety, security, privacy, fraud, conflicts, accounting, customer treatment, or policy compliance. Reports may be made to:

- 1 a manager or any leader;
- 1 People Operations at people@bluepeaktech.com;
- 1 Employee Relations at employeerelations@bluepeaktech.com;
- 1 Legal or Compliance at legal@bluepeaktech.com;
- 1 Security at security@bluepeaktech.com for security or safety incidents; or
- 1 the BluePeak Integrity Line at integrity@bluepeaktech.com for confidential reporting and anonymous reporting where permitted.

BluePeak prohibits retaliation against any person who makes a good-faith report, asks a question, refuses to participate in suspected misconduct, requests an accommodation or leave, or participates in an investigation. Knowingly false reports or deliberate interference with an investigation may result in corrective action; an unsubstantiated good-faith report does not.

17. Corrective Action and Investigations

BluePeak generally uses coaching, documented expectations, warnings, performance improvement plans, suspension, or other corrective action depending on the circumstances. The company may skip or combine steps based on seriousness, risk, prior history, legal requirements, or the need to protect people, information, or operations. Nothing in a progressive approach changes at-will employment in the United States.

Employees must cooperate honestly in investigations and preserve relevant information. BluePeak seeks to share information only with people who need it, but cannot promise complete confidentiality. Interim measures may include schedule changes, reporting-line changes, access restrictions, paid leave, remote work, or no-contact directions; an interim measure is not a conclusion of wrongdoing.

18. Separation From Employment

Employees are requested to provide at least two weeks' notice of resignation; people managers are requested to provide four weeks when practicable. Notice is not required to end at-will employment and may be accepted immediately. Employees must return devices, badges, cards, records, and other company property by the date directed, normally no later than 30 days after the last working day.

Final pay, PTO payout, benefits continuation, equity, commissions, bonuses, and deductions are handled under the applicable policy, plan, written agreement, and law. System access is removed based on role risk and the separation plan, normally no later than five business days after separation and often at the end of the last working day.

18.1 Continuing Obligations

Confidentiality, intellectual-property, non-solicitation, non-competition, cooperation, repayment, and other post-employment obligations apply only as stated in an enforceable agreement or applicable law. Former employees must not retain company information or credentials.

19. Employee Acknowledgment

Employees are expected to confirm electronically that they received access to this handbook, understand how to locate current policies, and know how to ask questions or report concerns. Acknowledgment confirms receipt; it does not waive legal rights or create an employment contract.

90. Administration, Exceptions, and Questions

BluePeak administers the Employee Handbook consistently with the employee's work location, employment classification, written employment terms, and applicable law. A statutory or contractual entitlement that is more generous than this document will apply to the extent required. A manager may not waive a legal requirement, create a new benefit, or promise an exception without written approval from the document owner.

Employees should raise questions before relying on an informal interpretation. Contact people@bluepeaktech.com through Outlook or the People Help channel in Microsoft Teams. Payroll, Legal, Information Security, or a site leader will be consulted when the question involves tax, wage-and-hour, privacy, immigration, safety, or local-law considerations.

Approved exceptions must identify the employee, the policy provision, the business reason, the approving authority, the start and end date, and any conditions. Exceptions are stored with the employee or transaction record and do not establish a precedent for other employees.
