Quick Answers

Question	Current rule
How many onsite days are expected?	Hybrid employees normally work onsite at least three days each week.
Are the days the same for everyone?	Teams publish anchor days based on collaboration and customer needs; an employee may have an approved alternate pattern.
What are core collaboration hours?	Denver and most U.S. hybrid teams: 10:00 a.m.-3:00 p.m. local. Austin: 9:00 a.m.-4:00 p.m. local. Dublin: 10:00 a.m.-3:00 p.m. Ireland time unless a roster applies.
Does a holiday reduce the onsite requirement?	Yes. A company holiday, approved leave, or site closure is not counted as a missed office day; managers should apply the expectation proportionally.
Is commuting reimbursed?	No. Travel to the employee's assigned office is an ordinary commute.
Is there an internet allowance?	Eligible hybrid and Remote-First employees receive a $50 monthly taxable allowance through payroll.
How much notice applies to a permanent pattern change?	BluePeak normally provides at least 30 calendar days when changing an established arrangement, except for emergency, legal, safety, or performance reasons.

Current Austin rule: Austin hybrid employees follow the site-specific 9:00 a.m.-4:00 p.m. local core window. The general 10:00 a.m.-3:00 p.m. window does not replace that approved Austin schedule.

1. Purpose and Scope

Hybrid work combines purposeful onsite collaboration with focused remote work. This policy applies to employees whose work arrangement is designated Hybrid in the HR system. It does not convert an office-based role to Remote-First and does not authorize work from another state or country.

BluePeak determines arrangements based on role duties, customer commitments, team interdependence, security, facilities capacity, employment registration, and business continuity. A work arrangement is not a guarantee that every task or meeting can be performed remotely.

2. Work-Arrangement Categories

Category	General operating expectation
Onsite	The role is normally performed at a BluePeak or customer location five days per week or according to a published shift.
Hybrid	The employee normally works onsite at least three days per week and remotely on approved days.
Remote-First	The employee's primary approved work location is away from a BluePeak office; onsite attendance may still be required.
Field-Based	The employee works primarily at customer, partner, or regional locations under a role-specific schedule.

The HR system designation controls. Informal practice, occasional remote work, or a manager's temporary flexibility does not change the category.

3. Eligibility and Arrangement Approval

A role may be Hybrid when duties can be performed securely and effectively across locations, onsite customer or operational coverage can be maintained, and the team has a workable collaboration plan. The manager, department leader, People Partner, and Workplace or IT may participate in approval.

Individual readiness includes reliable performance, ability to work independently, secure workspace, responsiveness, and compliance with timekeeping and security rules. Hybrid eligibility may not be denied for a discriminatory or retaliatory reason. Accommodation requests are evaluated separately from ordinary flexibility.

4. Onsite Expectation

Hybrid employees normally work onsite at least three days each week at their assigned office. Teams identify anchor days to support planning, design reviews, customer work, onboarding, mentoring, leadership access, and social connection. Tuesday through Thursday is a common pattern but is not a company-wide mandate.

An onsite day generally means a meaningful portion of the scheduled workday at the assigned office, customer site, or approved company event. Brief badge entry, commuting only for a meal, or attending for a few minutes does not satisfy the expectation. Offsite customer work may count when the manager confirms it serves the same business purpose.

4.1 Short Weeks and Leave

The expectation is applied reasonably. Company holidays, approved PTO, sick leave, parental leave, bereavement, jury duty, business travel, and site closure are not treated as attendance failures. Managers should not require employees to “make up” protected leave. For a short week, onsite days should be proportional to available working days and team needs.

4.2 Team Anchor Days

Managers publish anchor days at least one month in advance where practical. Changes should consider customer commitments, commuting arrangements, room capacity, and equitable access. An employee should raise a recurring conflict early rather than repeatedly missing the day.

5. Core Collaboration Hours

Employees should be available for meetings, decisions, and prompt communication during the applicable core window, excluding approved leave and meal or rest periods:

Assigned site or team	Core collaboration window
Denver and most U.S. hybrid teams	10:00 a.m.-3:00 p.m. local time
Austin	9:00 a.m.-4:00 p.m. local time
Dublin	10:00 a.m.-3:00 p.m. Ireland time unless a published roster applies
Customer support, operations, or global coverage	The role's approved shift or coverage schedule

Core hours are not the full workday. Employees complete the rest of their schedule in coordination with the manager and must comply with timekeeping, meal, overtime, and customer coverage rules. Cross-time-zone teams should rotate inconvenient meetings rather than placing the burden on one region.

6. Remote Days

On a remote day, the employee must work from the approved home or other approved location, remain reachable through standard channels, attend scheduled meetings, protect confidential information, and maintain reliable connectivity. Working from a café, hotel, coworking space, or another temporary location is permitted only when privacy, safety, and security requirements can be met.

Remote work is not a substitute for sick leave when the employee is unable to work or for continuous dependent care that prevents reliable performance. Brief, ordinary household interruptions may be managed with the manager.

7. Collaboration and Meetings

Teams should use the location that best serves the work rather than treating every onsite day as a full day of video calls. Managers should plan onsite activities such as workshops, one-to-ones, customer sessions, design reviews, onboarding, and team learning. Remote participants must have equitable access to materials and decisions.

Meeting organizers should:

- 1 include a Teams link when an approved participant is remote;
- 1 use a room with suitable audio and camera equipment;
- 1 publish an agenda and pre-read for decision meetings;
- 1 avoid side decisions that exclude remote participants; and
- 1 document outcomes in the team's system of record.

8. Timekeeping, Availability, and Performance

Non-exempt employees record actual hours and obtain advance overtime approval. A remote day does not authorize work outside the approved schedule. Exempt employees remain responsible for results and reasonable availability.

Performance is evaluated on outcomes, quality, collaboration, customer impact, reliability, and conduct—not visibility alone. At the same time, repeated failure to attend required onsite work, remain available, or meet role expectations may result in coaching, corrective action, or a change in arrangement.

Managers should address the specific performance or attendance issue rather than applying a blanket remote-work penalty to an entire team.

9. Workspace, Equipment, and Costs

BluePeak provides approved equipment based on role, normally a managed laptop, necessary accessories, and access to reservable office space. Equipment remains company property and must be used and returned under the Acceptable Use of Company Devices policy.

Eligible Hybrid and Remote-First employees receive a $50 monthly taxable internet allowance through payroll. The allowance is intended to support reliable connectivity and is not submitted through the expense system. It does not cover premium entertainment service, household utilities, or a second residence.

Ordinary commuting, parking not covered by the site's program, meals, and home workspace costs are personal unless an approved accommodation or local law requires reimbursement. A business trip away from the assigned site follows the Travel Policy.

10. Safety, Security, and Privacy

The employee must maintain a safe, reasonably ergonomic workspace and report a work-related injury promptly. Use privacy screens, headsets, locked storage, approved networks, VPN when required, and only managed devices for restricted work. Household members and visitors may not use BluePeak equipment or access company information.

Sensitive calls should not be conducted where they can be overheard. Printed material should be minimized and disposed of through an approved method. A lost device or suspected compromise must be reported immediately.

11. Schedule and Location Changes

A one-time exchange of onsite and remote days may be approved by the manager when team coverage is maintained. A recurring pattern change should be documented in the HR system. BluePeak normally provides 30 calendar days' notice before changing an established arrangement, except when an emergency, legal requirement, security concern, site event, customer commitment, or documented performance issue requires faster action.

An employee may not work from another state or country under this policy. Use the Remote Work Policy and obtain approval before changing work jurisdiction.

12. Weather, Transit, and Site Closure

Workplace will communicate a site delay or closure through the emergency notification system. When a site remains open but travel is unsafe, the employee should contact the manager and may work remotely when duties and connectivity allow. Employees should not take unreasonable safety risks to satisfy an onsite day.

A transit disruption, caregiving issue, or home emergency may justify temporary flexibility but should not become an unapproved recurring arrangement.

13. Accommodations and Exceptions

A disability, pregnancy, religion, or other protected need may require a different schedule or location. Contact people@bluepeaktech.com rather than providing medical details to a broad team. An approved accommodation is administered separately and is not subject to informal team comparison.

A business exception should identify the reason, duration, onsite alternative, security and equipment plan, and review date. Vice president and People Partner approval is required for a recurring exception exceeding 30 days.

14. Review and Withdrawal

Managers review arrangements at least annually and when role, location, performance, customer need, or organizational design changes. BluePeak may modify or withdraw a Hybrid arrangement for legitimate business reasons, with reasonable notice where practical. The employee may request reconsideration through the People Partner.

90. Administration, Exceptions, and Questions

BluePeak administers hybrid work consistently with the employee's work location, employment classification, written employment terms, and applicable law. A statutory or contractual entitlement that is more generous than this document will apply to the extent required. A manager may not waive a legal requirement, create a new benefit, or promise an exception without written approval from the document owner.

Employees should raise questions before relying on an informal interpretation. Contact people@bluepeaktech.com through Outlook or the People Help channel in Microsoft Teams. Payroll, Legal, Information Security, or a site leader will be consulted when the question involves tax, wage-and-hour, privacy, immigration, safety, or local-law considerations.

Approved exceptions must identify the employee, the policy provision, the business reason, the approving authority, the start and end date, and any conditions. Exceptions are stored with the employee or transaction record and do not establish a precedent for other employees.
